ABOUT THE DOMAINE

Peccavi is a small boutique vineyard located in Western Australia, in the 'sweet spot' sub-region of the Yallingup ridge, in the north of the Margaret River region. All the Peccavi Wines are estate grown, handpicked, handcrafted and see only the finest French oak. Peccavi is notably one of the first Australian vineyards to have the same new clones being used by the greatest Estates of Bordeaux. The Estates viticulture practices encourage vine roots to dive deep into ancient granite, ultimately concentrating flavours in the fruit and adding natural mineral characters to the finished wines. Today, owner and founder of Peccavi wines, Jeremy Muller, produces wines which offer beautiful structure, balance and aroma complexity throughout a range of whites and reds.

WINEMAKING

The grapes are grown in deeper sandy clays with larger canopies shelter the fruit preserving aromatics and natural acidity. The fruit is de-stemmed and crushed straight to the press and the cold juice extracted. Fermented at low temperature, the resultant wine is allowed to rest in tank on lees and stirred regularly for several months. No time spent in oak.

TASTING NOTES

This quintessential Margaret River wine style personifies region and lifestyle. The wine's aroma is generous and punchy with layers of tropical fruits; it is crisp and dry with the palate displaying ripe nectarines, passionfruit and guava, the finish is clean and refreshing.
